You are another Cheryl McNeally calling the base commander because I did not answer Julie Starling's phone call while I was in surgery. You are fucking crazy!

NO one has criticized you for not answering a phone call while in surgery... No one. That is your straw man argument so that you can try to deflect from the real issues. The only reason you stick to it is because you do not have the integrity to be honest about the enormity of what you have done here. Your little subterfuge about Julie calling you is the only twist you can put on utterly reckless and unethical conduct related to filing taxes years late. At best you are stupid, reckless and irresponsible. Do you think I have forgotten all the lies you told me about 2009, 2010, 2011 and 2012? I have not.

If anyone is Cheri in this scenario it is you, who have been a manipulative liar for so long you can not tell the truth to save your life.

I said you lied about the trip with Carmen. As a fact, you did. You lied to me about every aspect of it. I did not make any other comment on the trip, other than that you lied to me about it.

Your personal relationship with Carmen is inappropriate, it is too personal, that is a fact and I said so when you asked me to write a letter for her.

I am sick of your insults and the ugliness you have created. I am sick of you twisting reality to suit yourself. And I am sick of your utter selfishness. Go right ahead and be more insulting. I am done with you. You will never be open, honest or loving. You will never be a man I can trust. You will never be a man of judgment, morals and integrity. All you will ever be is what you are today.

I have done nothing wrong. You on the other hand have lied, stolen, committed insurance fraud, breach of contract, even plagiarism and adultery, and in every way been engaged in conduct unbecoming an officer. That had nothing to do with Julie calling you yesterday.

Since you are so determined to be insulting, I am done with this. I will not protect you about any of your past. Everything about you is a lie, even the lie when you asked if you could say I was suicidal so that you could come back to NC. It was a lie, and you clearly had no problem lying to the AirForce. It's in an email. Along with thousand of other lies. You do realize that lying to the IG is grounds for court marshal.

When the IG calls, I am letting it all out. I have come to hate you claiming innocence, but it is just one more lie on the mountain of Lying Arthur.
